Important:

Register your warranty with ITP prior to installation. Separately provided Installation instructions provided by the Powerlon UV technical team must be complied with to validate any warranty. Powerlon UV proprietary adhesives, tapes and accessories must be used to validate any warranty.

* Note: As per EN 13859-2, Clause 5.2.2, in the case of the breather membrane being used on a supporting structure, further flame retardant testing of the structure may be needed to determine the flame retardancy of the construction due to a possible different flame retardancy of the supporting construction material itself (e.g. wood).

 Note: for installations with openings greater than 100mm or with exposed surface area of more than 50%, contact the Powerlon UV technical team. Some installations (eg polycarbonate panels, glass) allow for unlimited openings.
